All leases need to be signed and returned to the office prior to the 1st of September.

- Disputes between tenants are to be regarded as a civil matter. Just as in any standard tenancy, management is not responsible for handling disputes between neighbours unless it escalates to a legal issue, a breach of park rules, or a violation of a lease agreement. If you have an issue with another tenant, your first step should be to speak with them directly and try to resolve it as adults. If necessary, we can offer a neutral space for a civil conversation with a third-party present, but this should only be a last resort.
- If for any reason during mediation the situation escalates the meeting will immediately be terminated and the issue will be left to the tenants to seek independent legal counsel to sort the issue out between themselves.
- Disruptive behaviour that interferes with the peace and comfort of other residents will result in a breach notice and possible police involvement.

Furthermore, verify that they possess the appropriate licensing and insurance to carry out the specified tasks.

Repair Expectations & Timelines

- The park is undergoing significant maintenance due to its age. Our staffing levels are limited, and we prioritise safety above all else. Repairs will be addressed as promptly as possible. However, with 206 sites to manage, we will prioritise requests based on their urgency and importance with safety hazards being addressed before cosmetic changes.

- The responsibility lies with the purchaser of the property to ensure they receive all necessary documentation, including but not limited to a gas safety certificate, smoke alarm certificate, and park and council approval paperwork.
- All purchasers must receive approval from the park before taking up residence. Purchasing a property does not automatically grant you approval to live in the park.
- Unless otherwise specified in your business contract, all sales are considered final. It is incumbent upon you to ensure that everything is up to code prior to purchasing the property; failure to do so will be solely your responsibility.
- The office may hold a copy of important paperwork items, if requested and they have been provided to us, but it is not a requirement of us to possess.
